FINDINGS AND DECISION

This medical fee dispute is decided pursuant to Texas Labor Code §413.031 and all applicable, adopted rules of the Texas Department of Insurance, Division of Workers' Compensation.

Background

1. 28 Texas Administrative Code §133.305 and §133.307, 27 Texas Register 12282, applicable to requests filed on or after January 1, 2003, sets out the procedures for resolving medical fee disputes.
2. 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401, 22 Texas Register 6246, effective August 1, 1997, sets out the fee guidelines for inpatient services rendered in an acute care hospital.
3. Neither party to this dispute submitted any explanation of benefits to support the reduction of payment for disputed services.
4. Dispute M4-06-2264 History
  - The division originally issued a decision on April 12, 2006.
  - The dispute decision was appealed to the District Court.
  - The 345th Judicial District remanded the dispute to the division pursuant to an agreed order of remand D-1-GN-06-0001644 dated July 10, 2015.
  - As a result of the remand order, the dispute was re-docketed at the division's medical fee dispute resolution section.
  - M4-06-2264-02 is hereby reviewed.

Issues

1. Did the audited charges exceed $40,000.00?
2. Did the admission in dispute involve unusually extensive services?
3. Did the admission in dispute involve unusually costly services?
4. Is the requestor entitled to additional reimbursement?

Findings

This dispute relates to inpatient surgical services provided in a hospital setting with reimbursement subject to the provisions of division rule at 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401, titled Acute Care Inpatient Hospital Fee Guideline, effective August 1, 1997, 22 Texas Register 6264. The Third Court of Appeals' November 13, 2008 opinion in Texas Mutual Insurance Company v. Vista Community Medical Center, LLP, 275 South Western Reporter Third 538, 550 (Texas Appeals – Austin 2008, petition denied) addressed a challenge to the interpretation of 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401. The Court concluded that "to be eligible for reimbursement under the Stop-Loss Exception, a hospital must demonstrate that the total audited charges exceed $40,000 and that an admission involved unusually costly and unusually extensive services." Both the requestor and respondent in this dispute were given an opportunity to supplement the original MDR submissions after the 3rd Court of Appeals Decision. The division received supplemental information as noted in the position summaries above. Documentation filed by the requestor and respondent to date is considered in determining whether the admission in dispute is eligible for reimbursement under the stop-loss method of payment. Consistent with the Third Court of Appeals' November 13, 2008 opinion, the division will address whether the total audited charges in this case exceed $40,000; whether the admission and disputed services in this case are unusually extensive; and whether the admission and disputed services in this case are unusually costly. 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(2)(C) states, in pertinent part, that "Independent reimbursement is allowed on a case-by-case basis if the particular case exceeds the stop-loss threshold..." In that same opinion, the Third Court of Appeals states that the stop loss exception "...was meant to apply on a case-by-case basis in relatively few cases." 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(6) puts forth the requirements to meet the three factors that will be discussed.

1. 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(6)(A)(i) states, "to be eligible for stop-loss payment the total audited charges for a hospital admission must exceed $40,000, the minimum stop-loss threshold."

Furthermore, 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(6)(A)(v) states that “Audited charges are those charges which remain after a bill review by the insurance carrier has been performed.” Review of the explanation of benefits issued by the respondent finds that the carrier did not deduct any charges in accordance with §134.401(c)(6)(A)(v); therefore the audited charges equal $140,310.99. The division concludes that the total audited charges exceed $40,000.00.

2. 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(2)(C) allows for payment under the stop-loss exception on a case-by-case basis only if the particular case exceeds the stop-loss threshold as described in paragraph (6). Paragraph (6)(A)(ii) states that “This stop-loss threshold is established to ensure compensation for unusually extensive services required during an admission.” The Third Court of Appeals’ November 13, 2008 opinion states that “to be eligible for reimbursement under the Stop-Loss Exception, a hospital must demonstrate that the total audited charges exceed $40,000 and that an admission involved...unusually extensive services” and further states that “independent reimbursement under the Stop-Loss Exception was meant to apply on a case-by-case basis in relatively few cases.” In its position, the requestor states:

The medical records on file with MDR show this admission to be a complex lumbar fusion. This complex spine surgery is unusually extensive for at least the following reasons:

- This type of surgery is unusually extensive when compared to all workers’ compensation admissions between 2001 and 2008 which totaled 68,775, which is based on data received from DWC through a Deposition on Written Questions. It is unusually extensive in that only 9% of the total admissions were for a lumbar spine fusion with a principle procedure code of 81.08 such as the surgery performed in this case;
- This type of surgery required a physician for neuromonitoring, a cell saver, additional, trained nursing staff and specialized equipment thereby making the hospital services unusually extensive;
- This procedure has a Medicare Severity Diagnostic Related Group (MS-DRG) of 498 which has a relative weight of 2.6527. This relative weight is 72% higher than the average relative weight of all DRG’s for fiscal year 2005, the date this procedure was performed, and is 98% higher than all Major Diagnostic Category (MDC) 08 DRG’s for the same fiscal year;
- This procedure has a relative weight that is 77% higher than the average Case Mix Index (CMI) for similar hospitals in Dallas County where this procedure was performed and;
- This procedure qualifies for outlier payments under Medicare making this an unusually extensive and unusually costly procedure.

The division considered the requestor’s contention that the services in dispute were unusually extensive. Per the Third Court of Appeals’ November 13, 2008, decision “to be eligible for reimbursement under the Stop-Loss Exception, a hospital must demonstrate that the total audited charges exceed $40,000 and that an admission involved unusually costly and unusually extensive services.” In that same opinion, the Third Court of Appeals states that the stop loss exception “...was meant to apply on a case-by-case basis in relatively few cases.” The division reviewed the requestor’s position summary and submitted documentation and finds the following:

- The requestor indicated that because 9% of the total a workers’ compensation admissions between 2001 and 2008 involved lumbar spine fusion, this admission involved unusually extensive services. The requestor’s categorization of spinal surgeries presupposes that all spinal surgeries are unusually extensive. The Third Court of Appeal’s decision noted that stop-loss reimbursement is meant to apply on a case-by-case basis. The requestor did not submit case specific information to support how the services in dispute were unusually extensive in relation to similar admissions.
- The requestor noted that the hospital admission required additional staff and specialized equipment thereby making the hospital services unusually extensive. The requestor did not provide documentation to support that the use of additional staff in this case was unusual when compared to similar surgeries.
- The requestor uses Medicare’s MS-DRG and relative weights to support their argument that the disputed services involved an unusually extensive hospital stay. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) began using a new diagnosis-related groups (DRG) system called Medicare Severity (MS) on October 1, 2007; therefore, the requestor's argument is based on a system that did not exist on the disputed date of service in 2005.

- The requestor also noted that the admission was unusually extensive because the procedure's relative weight is 77% higher in comparison to the average CMI for similar hospitals in Dallas County. The requestor did not submit documentation to support this assertion, nor did the requestor provide information regarding its comparison to "similar hospitals."
- The requestor relies upon Medicare's outlier threshold policy as its method to establish that the admission in dispute is unusually extensive. The Medicare policy that the requestor relies on may be found at Section 1886(d)(5)(A) of the Federal Social Security Act and in the Medicare Claims Processing Manual, CMS Publication 100-04, Chapter 3 found at www.cms.gov. According to this policy, admissions for which a hospital incurs extraordinarily high costs may qualify for payments in addition to the basic Inpatient Prospective Payment System (IPPS) payment. In order to qualify for a so-called "outlier payment" the cost to the hospital for a specific admission must exceed a fixed cost outlier threshold amount. Factors which affect the calculation of the fixed cost outlier threshold amount may change and are updated annually as part of the Inpatient Prospective Payment System (IPPS) final rule, or when relevant, final rules are implemented in Medicare. The requestor attempts to support its position that the services in dispute are unusually extensive by presuming that the admission in dispute would have qualified for a Medicare outlier payment; however, the requestor failed to present the factors and the calculation method to support its contention. The presumption that the service in dispute would have qualified for an outlier payment at the time the services were rendered is therefore unsupported.

For the reasons stated, the division finds that the requestor has not demonstrated that the services in dispute involved unusually extensive services in relation to similar admissions.

3. In regards to whether the services were unusually costly, the Third Court of Appeals' November 13, 2008 opinion concluded that in order to be eligible for reimbursement under the stop-loss exception, a hospital must demonstrate that an admission involved unusually costly services. 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(6) states that "Stop-loss is an independent reimbursement methodology established to ensure fair and reasonable compensation to the hospital for unusually costly services rendered during treatment to an injured worker." The requestor's supplemental position statement asserts that:

The medical and billing records on file with MDR also show that this admission was unusually costly for at least the following reasons:

- The median charge for all workers' compensation inpatient surgeries is $23,187; the median charge for workers' compensation surgeries of this type is $39,000; therefore, the audited billed charges for this surgery substantially exceed not only the median charges, but also the $40,000 stop loss threshold;
- As mentioned in the preceding paragraph, in order for this surgery to be performed, specialized equipment such as large bore IV's and an arterial line and specially trained, extra nursing staff were required, thereby adding substantially to the cost of the surgery in comparison to other types of surgeries and;
- It was necessary to purchase expensive implants for use in the surgery.

The requestor asserts that because the billed charges exceed the stop-loss threshold, the admission in this case is unusually costly. The division notes that audited charges are addressed as a separate and distinct factor described in 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(6)(A)(i). Billed charges for services do not represent the cost of providing those services, and no such relation has been established in the instant case. The requestor fails to demonstrate that the costs associated with the services in dispute are unusual when compared to similar spinal surgery services or admissions. For that reason, the division rejects the requestor's position that the admission is unusually costly based on the mere fact that the billed or audited charges "substantially" exceed $40,000. The requestor additionally asserts that certain resources that are used for the types of surgeries associated with the admission in dispute (i.e. specialized equipment and specially-trained, extra nursing staff) added substantially to the cost of the admission. The requestor does not list or quantify the costs associated with these resources in relation to the disputed services, nor does the requestor provide documentation to support a reasonable comparison between the resources required for similar spinal surgery services or admissions. Therefore, the requestor fails to demonstrate that the resources used in this particular admission are unusually costly when compared to similar spinal surgery services or admissions.

4. For the reasons stated above, the services in dispute are not eligible for the stop-loss method of reimbursement. Consequently, reimbursement shall be calculated pursuant to 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(1) subtitled Standard Per Diem Amount and §134.401(c)(4) subtitled Additional Reimbursements. The Division notes that additional reimbursements under §134.401(c)(4) apply only to bills that do not reach the stop-loss threshold described in subsection (c)(6) of this section.
- Review of the submitted documentation finds that the services provided were surgical; therefore the standard per diem amount of $1,118.00 per day applies. Division rule at 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(3)(ii) states, in pertinent part, that “The applicable Workers' Compensation Standard Per Diem Amount (SPDA) is multiplied by the length of stay (LOS) for admission...” The length of stay was two days. The surgical per diem rate of $1,118.00 multiplied by the length of stay of two days results in an allowable amount of $2,236.00.
  - 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(4)(A), states “When medically necessary the following services indicated by revenue codes shall be reimbursed at cost to the hospital plus 10%: (i) Implantables (revenue codes 275, 276, and 278), and (ii) Orthotics and prosthetics (revenue code 274).”
  - A review of the submitted medical bill indicates that the requestor billed revenue code 278 for Implants at $55,580.00.
  - The Division finds the total allowable for the implants billed under revenue code 278 is:

Description of Implant per Itemized Statement	QTY.	Cost Per Unit	Cost + 10%
Rod Spinal Solutions	2	$395.00	$869.00
Screw Cap	4	$450.00	$1,980.00
Screw Pedicle	4	$1,295.00	$5,698.00
Cage PLIF	2	$2,895.00	$6,369.00
TOTAL	12		$14,916.00

The division concludes that the total allowable for the disputed services is $17,152.00. The respondent issued payment in the amount of $63,548.24; therefore, additional reimbursement is not recommended.

Conclusion

The submitted documentation does not support the reimbursement amount sought by the requestor. The requestor in this case demonstrated that the audited charges exceed $40,000, but failed to demonstrate that the disputed inpatient hospital admission involved unusually extensive services, and failed to demonstrate that the services in dispute were unusually costly. Consequently, 28 Texas Administrative Code §134.401(c)(1) titled Standard Per Diem Amount, and §134.401(c)(4) titled Additional Reimbursements are applied and result in no additional reimbursement.

ORDER

Based upon the documentation submitted by the parties and in accordance with the provisions of Texas Labor Code §413.031, the division has determined that the requestor is entitled to $0.00 additional reimbursement for the services in dispute.
